Japanese Perfection

The American computer giant IBM decided to get some parts manufactured in Japan as a trial. In the specifications, they set standard that they will accept only three defective parts per 10,000 pieces.

When the delivery came to IBM there was a letter accompanying it.

“We, Japanese people, had a hard time understanding North American business practices. But the three defective parts per 10,000 pieces have been separately manufactured, and have been included in the consignment in a separate packaging mentioned: ‘Defective pieces as required, not for use’. Hope this meets your requirement.”

IASB Proposes Amendments to IAS 1

The International Accounting Standards Board (IASB) has published for public comment the Exposure Draft ED/2015/1 Classification of Liabilities (Proposed amendments to IAS 1). Comments are requested by June 10, 2015. The ED does not contain a proposed effective date; however, it proposes that the amendments would be applied retrospectively with early application permitted. The ED clarifies how entities classify debt, particularly when it is coming up for renewal. The proposed amendments are designed to improve presentation in financial statements by clarifying the criteria for the classification of a liability as either current or non-current. The amendments aim at:

• clarifying that the classification of liabilities as current or non-current should be based on rights that are in existence at the end of the reporting period; and

• making the link clear between the settlement of a liability and the outflow of resources from an entity.

Standard for the First-time Adoption of IPSAS

The International Public Sector Accounting Standards Board (IPSASB) has released IPSAS 33 First-time Adoption of Accrual Basis IPSASs. It shall be applied if first-time adopters’ first IPSAS financial statements are for a period beginning on or after January 1, 2017. Earlier application is permitted. It addresses the transition from either a cash basis, or an accrual basis under another reporting framework, or a modified version of either the cash or accrual basis of accounting.

Main feature of IPSAS 33 is that it allows first-time adopters three years to recognise specified assets and liabilities in order to give preparers sufficient time to develop reliable models for recognising and measuring assets and liabilities during the transition period. These assets and liabilities include inventories, investment property, property, plant and equipment, defined benefit plans and other long-term employee benefits, biological assets and agricultural produce, intangible assets, service concession assets and the related liabilities, and financial instruments.

IPSASB Publishes IPSASs on Accounting for Interests in Other Entities

The International Public Sector Accounting Standards Board (IPSASB) has published the following five International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSASs):

- IPSAS 34 Separate Financial Statements;
- IPSAS 35 Consolidated Financial Statements;
- IPSAS 36 Investments in Associates and Joint Ventures;
- IPSAS 37 Joint Arrangements; and
- IPSAS 38 Disclosure of Interests in Other Entities.

These five standards will replace current requirements in:

- IPSAS 6 Consolidated and Separate Financial Statements;
- IPSAS 7 Investments in Associates; and
- IPSAS 8 Interests in Joint Ventures.

The new IPSAS are based on IFRS 10 Consolidated Financial Statements, IFRS 11 Joint Arrangements, IFRS 12 Disclosure of Interests in Other Entities, IAS 27 Separate Financial Statements and IAS 28 Investments in Associates and Joint Ventures, including the amendments made in 2012 in relation to transitional guidance and investment entities. The standards are effective for annual financial statements covering periods beginning on or after January 1, 2017. Earlier application is encouraged. However, if an entity decides to apply the requirements early it shall disclose that fact and apply the whole series of standards (IPSAS 34 through IPSAS 38) at the same time. The following highlights particular aspects of each IPSAS:

IPSAS 34 Separate Financial Statements

The requirements for separate financial statements in IPSAS 34 are very similar to the current requirements for separate financial statements in IPSAS 6.

IPSAS 35 Consolidated Financial Statements

IPSAS 35 supersedes the requirements in IPSAS 6 regarding consolidated financial statements. It still requires that control be assessed having regard to benefits and power, but the definition of control has changed and the standard now provides considerably more guidance on assessing control. IPSAS 35 introduces the concept of “investment entities.” Generally an investment entity measures its investments in controlled entities at fair value through surplus or deficit. In contrast with IPSAS 6, it no longer permits an exemption from consolidation for temporarily controlled entities.

The world health organisation estimates that nearly three billion people around the world cook on open fries or basic stoves and the resulting household air pollution from cooking with solid fuel contributes to more than four million premature deaths every year.

IPSAS 36 Investments in Associates and Joint Ventures

IPSAS 36 explains the application of the equity method of accounting, which is used to account for investments in associates and joint ventures. The requirements are very similar to the current guidance in IPSAS 7. IPSAS 36 does not permit a different accounting treatment for temporary investments.
IPSAS 37 Joint Arrangements

IPSAS 37 establishes requirements for classifying joint arrangements and accounting for those different types of joint arrangements. Joint arrangements are classified as either joint operations or joint ventures. These classifications differ from IPSAS 8, which referred to three types of arrangements (jointly controlled entities, jointly controlled operations, and jointly controlled assets). IPSAS 37 requires that joint ventures be accounted for using the equity method. Previously, IPSAS 8 permitted jointly controlled entities to be accounted for using either the equity method or proportionate consolidation.

IPSAS 38 Disclosure of Interests in Other Entities

IPSAS 38 brings together the disclosures previously included in IPSASs 6–8. It also introduces new disclosure requirements, including those related to structured entities that are not consolidated and controlling interests acquired with the intention of disposal.

The New Auditor’s Report

The auditor’s report is the key deliverable communicating the results of the audit process. Investors and other financial statement users have asked for a more informative auditor’s report in particular for auditors to provide more relevant information to users.

Due to significance of the matter, the International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB) has issued new and revised Auditor Reporting standards, designed to significantly enhance auditor’s reports for investors and other users of financial statements. It will enhance communication between auditors and investors, as well as those charged with corporate governance, increase user confidence, transparency, audit quality, and information value. As a result, the following Auditor Reporting standards have been changed, namely ISA 700 (Revised), ISA 701 (New), ISA 705 (Revised), ISA 706 (Revised), ISA 570 (Revised), ISA 260 (Revised) and conforming amendments to other ISAs.

The new and revised Auditor Reporting standards are effective for audits of financial statements for periods ending on or after December 15, 2016. These can be accessed using the following link:

The 7C's: How to Find and Hire Great Employees

In today’s economy, hiring the best people is more critical than ever. According to Forbes article by David K. Williams, the cost of finding, interviewing, engaging and training new employees is high. According to him, the only criteria to find the candidate with the best skills are the seven categories termed as the 7C’s that should be considered for hiring. These are as follows:

1. Competent: Does the potential employee have the necessary skills, experiences and education to successfully complete the tasks to be performed?
2. Capable: Will this person complete not only the easy tasks but will he or she also find ways to deliver on the functions that require more effort and creativity?
3. Compatible: Can this person get along with colleagues, and with existing and potential clients and partners?
4. Commitment: Is the candidate serious about working for the long term? A history of past jobs and time spent at each provides clear insight on the matter.
5. Character: Does the person have values that align with yours? Are they honest; truthful and keep promises? Are they selfless and a team player?
6. Culture: Every business has a culture or a way based on certain values, expectations, policies and procedures that influence the behavior of a leader and employees. Workers who don’t reflect a company’s culture tend to be disruptive and difficult.
7. Compensation: As the employer, be sure the person hired agrees to a market-based compensation package and is satisfied with what is offered.

Ask the candidate for the names of former bosses, peers and subordinates for references. This will give you a full and accurate view, to select the best candidate for your organisation.

Career Counselling Sessions

The Institute of Chartered Accountants of Pakistan (ICAP) organised counselling sessions to educate the students and their respective institutions about the routes to Chartered Accountancy, the scope of CA globally and an extensive range of opportunities and professional escalation available after its successful completion.

Islamabad: Haroon Yaqoob, assistant manager Marketing and Communication (MARCOM), conducted three sessions in which 295 students of Intermediate level were counselled at Islamabad Model College for Boys G-6/3, Islamabad Model College for Girls F-11/3 and Islamabad Model College for Boys F-11/3. They were briefed on the eligibility criteria, exemptions, financial assistance and CA Talent Program offered to students. The sessions were followed by Q&A, which received a very positive reaction from the audience.

Karachi: A series of counselling sessions were held at The Citizens Foundation during February by ICAP marketing team, where around 250 students from different campuses showed up. These students took keen interest in the information provided to them regarding Chartered Accountancy, entry routes, registration criteria and numerous perks of being a Chartered Accountant.

If you don’t like the people or the products or services you work with, don’t stay. You will only be successful if you are passionate about what you are doing.

These counselling sessions played an imperative role in educating the students from less privileged background, as the sources of gathering information are limited to them and the role of ICAP in such a situation turned out to be very useful to them.

Around 1400 students visited ICAP stalls at the three stations and interested students were given goodie bags. The students and their parents were also provided the information about the Institute, its role, global affiliations, education scheme, exemptions and CA Talent program.

Sleep Loss Ages Brain more Quickly

Indulging in an afternoon nap could be the best way to delay your brain’s ageing and decline. A decade long study conducted at the Duke NUS Graduate Medical school in Singapore - which involved 66 adults aged 55 and over- found a link between sleep deprivation, rapid brain atrophy and cognitive decline.

The study, published in the journal Sleep last year, found that those who slept fewer hours showed evidence of faster brain ventricle enlargement and decline in cognitive performance. Although the researchers acknowledge that the sample size of the study was only small, they believe that the results are important.

Other studies have found sleep deprivation may also contribute to disorders such as type 2 diabetes, various cancers, weight gain, and premature aging.

Cool Quote...?

This refers to the quote in the January issue of the ICAP Newsletter: "I wouldn’t advise girls to go for Chartered Accountancy...!" And this was called a "cool quote." It’s difficult to mask my disappointment, and not to express my displeasure at such a write-up. As a member who believes we must have a greater balance of gender equality in the profession, I protest on your insensitive and immature choice of quote in the Hiba Azhar write-up. You need to demonstrate a sense of responsibility in whatever goes into print.

– Altaf Noor Ali, (R-2208)

Meet of the Month

I found the January Newsletter very interesting, especially the section, Meet of the Month. It’s a column which I will look forward to every month.

– Tracy Ann, Secretariat

New-Look Newsletter

Being a person who has a big heart for reading, I loved ICAP’s new-look Newsletter. Well done, ICAP Publications team. I now see the newsletter as a good blend of the technical and employee interest publication. Will wait anxiously for the next issue.

– Farah Waheed, MARCOM

Good Effort

First of all, thank you very much for taking ICAP staffs’ feedback on the Newsletter. I sincerely appreciate this effort and this first time practice. Overall, the Newsletter was perfect, but I have a few suggestions. The Newsletter should include the addresses of all ICAP offices in Pakistan. I also feel there should be no pictures in the contents column.

– Abdul Qadir Mirza, Legal & Corporate Affairs

Much Needed Change

It was a pleasure to read the January issue. I love the new masthead. For this first time the ICAP Newsletter was not dull and dry! The addition of fun facts were absolutely great. The gold medalist Hiba Azher’s interview by Samina Iqbal was perhaps the best I have ever read in an ICAP publication. Kudos to the Publication team for bringing in the much needed change. Wishing you great success.

Digital Screens to Eliminate Reading Glasses

Could it be time to throw away those reading glasses? Researchers from University of California at Berkeley, MIT, and Microsoft in the US recently created a filter that can make a digital screen adjust to a user’s vision. The filter is clipped onto a phone, tablet, or other device and used in conjunction with software that contains the individual’s glasses prescription.

Much like glasses and contacts, the filter makes whatever adjustments are necessary to the text onscreen so the user’s vision is clear.

The researchers estimate that the technology could be on the market within about five years and would cost under US$500.

Meet of the Month: Halimur Rashid

Was it always a win-win situation at ICAP?

“Mostly, yes. Only once in this long span did I think of leaving ICAP, but I survived. There have been (and are) individuals in the management who indulged in favouritism and khushamad.”

Except for a few, Halim has seen presidents, VPs and executive directors come and go at ICAP. He fondly remembers the founder secretary Ataullah (“followed principles”); past presidents Irtiza Husain (“the first Chartered Accountant president of ICAP”), Syed Masaud Ali Naqvi (“increased employee allowances 100%”), and Shabbar Zaidi (“introduced gratuity and compensation for old employees”); executive directors Aslam Mohsin Ali (“introduced minimum 10%–maximum, performance-based salary increase”) and Aslam Dossa (“introduced health insurance”).

“The facilities ICAP employees are enjoying today weren’t always there. There was no medical, salaries were not good, increments were government style.”

Has Halim thought of life after ICAP?

“I don’t believe in pre planning. I have complete tawakkul on Allah. I have a mind-set. Whenever I have problems, I pray to Him. All problems and azmaish are from Him, and He is the One who removes it. What is written will happen, so I hope for the best.”

Halim has a big family. Six daughters (three married) and two sons (one married). Two daughters (Bsc final and class 8) and a son (second year Inter Com) are studying. And to cater to his family’s needs, he has no option but “to look for a job, if I don’t get an extension.”

Any message for ICAP from its oldest serving employee?

“Always think of the behtari of the idara. Only then can ICAP facilitate its employees.”

Any regrets…?

“Once in a while it crossed my mind that I should have completed my studies after Intermediate, or maybe I should have gone out of the country and tried my luck. But, otherwise, I had a very good journey with some very fine people. All managements and my juniors gave me respect. I spent all my ICAP life with pride. Usoolon pay guzari…I will go with my head held high.”
A teenager, studying in class 9, joined the Institute of Chartered Accountants of Pakistan as a messenger boy at its modest set-up at Al Markaz building, M.A Jinnah road. And this journey of Halimur Rashid from a messenger boy to a junior to senior clerk, to officer and senior officer, to assistant manager despatch (the position on which he retires on June 20, 2015) in ICAP’s Administration Department is indeed a journey of hard work and perseverance.

Halim completes his forty years at ICAP...a lifetime commitment. He grew up and grew old with ICAP, 54, and now it’s goodbye time for Halim, 60. Though he tries to camouflage, one can clearly see the pain in his eyes. Almost like being cut-off from the umbilical cord...out alone. ICAP was home.

“I will miss ICAP. It’s family,” he says. “I served ICAP in various capacities and happily took on any job I was assigned. The management entrusted me with difficult tasks. I have worked on assignments from ICAP’s Examination Department, housekeeping, communication connections, fire-fighting, despatch...building going up. The shifting of ICAP office was assigned to me.

“We went for walks to Clifton. Stayed late at office...1 and 2 am, sometimes even as late as 5 or 6 in the morning, and walked home without fear of being mugged or shot down on the streets! I have spent my days, my nights, my life at ICAP.

“Whatever I know, I have learnt here – computers, English, man management, communication skills. I attended short courses like Skills & Supervision, Conflict Resolution, Dealing with Difficult People, Stress Management.”
