Testimonials

“The ICAP Mentorship Program helped me to consider options I had never contemplated before. The expert knowledge of a veteran on a range of topics was something I could never obtain from traditional learning methods. It gave me valuable perspective of an industry leader which helped me to improve performance and relationships at my workplace. I especially liked the flexibility the program has to offer for overseas members and the opportunity to indulge in an informal and open communication with the mentor. I highly recommend this rewarding experience to anyone looking to get a fresh perspective on workplace related matters.”
Syed Muhammad Kamran Ali Raza, ACA (Bahrain)

“Mentorship Program is a beneficial initiative of ICAP especially for fresh qualified chartered accountants. Mentee gets an opportunity for one on one interaction with experienced members. It is the only forum where a young chartered accountant can share his challenges and get professional advice from mentor and define a pathway for future endeavour. Considering the beneficial aspects of Mentorship Program, its scope should be broadened with the addition of further industry specific mentors.”
Naeem Maqsood, ACA (Karachi)

“ICAP Mentorship Program is a great initiative of the Institute and an opportunity for members to interact and seek guidance from mentors in the areas of personal and professional development. All mentors volunteering for the program are true professionals and experts in their fields, therefore, I would recommend all CA fellows to avail this opportunity and actively participate in the program.”
Hafiz Muhammad Salman, ACA (Karachi)

“ICAP’s Mentorship Program is really good and helpful for young members where mentors share their best experiences with the aspiring youth. My long awaited dream came to life when I received mentorship under this program from Muhammad Shahzad Sadiq. He guided me on how to explore new avenues in practice and enlightened me about the integration of the work of CA firms and banks. This certainly has been a life changing experience for me.”
Saad Ali, ACA (Lahore)

“It is no exaggeration to say this Mentorship Program was transformative – both professionally and personally. Most of the young and newly qualified chartered accountants spend a good early part of their professional lives trying to switch from one job to another or from one industry to another without having a clear idea of how to plan their careers. This program has helped me to think in a direction that leads to ultimate success. I really thank my mentor, Shakaib Arif who increased my motivation and guided me in the right professional direction.”
Saad un Nabi Khan, ACA (Karachi)

“When I first came across the ICAP Mentorship Program, the decision to be a part of it was almost spontaneous. What amazed me the most about my mentor, Roshan Mehri, was her ability to provide simple, practical solutions to my professional dilemmas. I cherish my decision as the program provided me guidance and support for excelling in corporate world, and I hope it helps all other mentees as well.”
Karim Bux, ACA (Karachi)

Oprah Winfrey, American artist said, “A mentor is someone who allows you to see the hope inside yourself.” After my first mentorship session I already saw myself as a more confident individual. The experience of meeting my mentor and going through a session of self-reflection was what counted the most. We are literally living in an age where materialism is celebrated and where we are drowning in information. Insights from my mentor Feroze Jehangir Cawasji under Mentorship Program served as wisdom for me. I am grateful to ICAP for initiating such a valuable program like mentorship and I encourage the Institute to move ahead with the program on a bigger scale.”
Saqib Siddiqui, ACA (Karachi)

“I signed up with ICAP’s Mentorship Program hoping to get the career counselling but I got more than that! Career break put me in devastation but my mentor Muneeza Butt, not only guided me through choices and preferences, but also helped me to eliminate the fear of rejection due to career break. She simply pushed me through my adversity faster. After my sessions, I felt more confident and composed and now I am a proud mother, a happy wife and a hardworking colleague. Thanks to ICAP for starting such a brilliant program for members and students. I hope everyone understands its importance and try to get benefit from the availability of successful professionals around us, who, in normal circumstances cannot be easily approached.”
Sana Asif, ACA (Karachi)

Parents can only give good advice or put them on the right paths, but the final forming of a person's character lies in their own hands.

- Anne Frank
A robust employer brand is a critical way to attract, engage, and retain the finest people. At a time when top talent is highly mobile, those are certainly worthy goals.

The researchers believe that ‘the employer brand’ should grow out of the company brand. In order to do this, it is important to obliterate the ‘employer brand’ tag and focus on building out a talent aspect as a significant part of the corporate brand.

Firstly, build a talent background that sets out the key qualities, behaviours and motivation managers want to see in their workforce, so the organisation can deliver on its total brand promise. Key talent criteria should be revamped depending on the position. For example, not just focus on technical skills but teamwork, empathy must be included.

Secondly, validation of the talent framework is very crucial. Workers who have to deal with the customers have the best knowledge of their requirements, essentials and how work is done. Focus groups and questionnaires for these employees should include questions such as: Does these capture capabilities critical to our success? How do you think potential hires will react? and Do our values come visibly?

In order to have truthful feedback, it is imperative to ask employees about what needs to be changed in the organisation for retaining, motivating and attracting the competitive people over the long term. For example, while having a focus group session a question can be asked like, “What is the worst aspect of our culture?” may cause silence. At a global scale, employees feel they are not encouraged to express their problems – the reason why this happens is likely to generate richer responses.

Finally, the talent framework should be fully embedded into the business. This means incentivise the right behaviours so that qualities such as ‘teamwork’ are assessed and rewarded according to the best practices. – Source: HBR
